FOREWORD MESSAGE

DUBAI COMMERCIAL DIRECTORY 2020

It is my honour to introduce the 2021 edition of the Dubai Chamber Commercial Directory, which supports our efforts to promote Dubai as a dynamic and global business hub.

Since its establishment in 1965, Dubai Chamber has strived to meet the needs of Dubai's fast-growing business community. We are committed to supporting the development of business and continue to enhance our wide range of value-added services provided to our members and customers.

Businessmen, exporters, importers, and entrepreneurs who are keen to learn more about Dubai's economy, business environment and society will find a lot of practical information in this directory that will help them explore the market.

This guide includes contact details for various ministries, government authorities and free zones, as well as useful information about major events such as Expo 2020 Dubai, which is the largest event to be staged in the Arab world.

As an Official Expo 2020 Dubai Partner, Dubai Chamber is hosting several high-level business forums during the six-month mega event, including country focus briefings offering valuable insights on new investment opportunities.

As a business facilitator, Dubai Chamber is leveraging the Expo platform to build meaningful connections between UAE companies and their international counterparts and promote economic cooperation.

This multilingual directory is a valuable and reliable resource for anyone who wants to establish business connections in Dubai as it provides comprehensive information on businesses operating in the emirate.

We hope you find it useful.

1. THE UNITED ARAB EMIRATES

1.1 OVERVIEW

The United Arab Emirates (UAE) lies on the Eastern coast of the Arabian Peninsula in the South Western corner of the Arabian Gulf. It is bounded to the North and North West by the Arabian Gulf, to the East and South East by the Sultanate of Oman, and to the West and South West by Saudi Arabia, and part of its Eastern boundaries lies on the Gulf of Oman. The total area of the UAE is around 83,600 square kilometers, excluding the small dependent islands.

In addition to its native population, the UAE is home to a sizable expatriate population of over 200 nationalities, with diverse ethnic and cultural backgrounds. The UAE society enjoys a high rate of population growth due to the continuous influx of foreign nationals attracted by the country's rapid economic and social development. The United Nations (UN) estimated the UAE population to have grown from 5.0 million in 2006 to around 9.8 million in 2020.

The official language of the UAE is Arabic, and all official communications and documents are in this language. Moreover, English is widely used in higher education institutions and in the private sector, and the residents freely use their own respective languages in their own social circles.

The economic policy of the UAE is based on safeguarding and respecting the individual freedom in ownership of the means of production, practicing any type of business activity and providing all facilities for that purpose. There are no restrictions on imports and exports except some minor customs and administrative duties.

The Government also plays a supervisory role in issuing legislations, which organize the functioning of the various economic sectors while causing no hindrance to the business activities. Simultaneously, this legislation protects the private rights and properties within the framework of the Government's efforts to promote and elevate the community to an advanced standard of development and production.

The UAE economy is one of the most dynamic economies in the region. It has realized a rapid and remarkable growth, which covered all the economic sectors' infrastructures, namely investment, commerce, finance, industry, services as well as oil and gas.

1.2 POLITICAL SYSTEM

The UAE is a Federal Sovereign State which consists of seven Emirates, namely: Abu Dhabi, Dubai, Sharjah, Ajman, Umm Al Quwain, Fujairah, and Ras Al Khaimah. The first six emirates formally formed the Federation on 2 December 1971. The seventh emirate, the Emirate of Ras Al Khaimah, joined the Federation on 10 February 1972.

According to the constitution, the Supreme Council of the Federation is the highest political authority in the country. It consists of all the Rulers of the seven Emirates. The President and the Vice President of the State are elected by the Supreme Council and from its members. The President appoints the Prime Minister with the consent of the members of the Supreme Council. The members of the Federal Government are appointed by a decree from the President upon the recommendation of the Prime Minister.

The Federal National Council (FNC), which consists of representatives of each Emirate, is the Legislative Council (Parliament). It exercises the authority to discuss and sanction all Federal Laws and then refer them to the Supreme Council for enactment. This is in addition to its role in discussing issues of interest to the citizens, and controlling the performance of the Federal Government.

On the international level, the UAE is a member of the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC), the Arab League, the UN, the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund and many other international organizations such as the International Labour Organization, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, the International Organization for Industrial Development, the World Health Organization and others. Being an important oil producing country, it is also a member in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) and the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries (OAPEC).

2. DUBAI

2.1 ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

Dubai is a major trade center in the Arabian Gulf region. It has acquired this position for several reasons which can be summarized as follows:

a. It occupies a strategic competitive location in the middle of the UAE coast stretching along 400 miles. Its distinct location in the south-western part of the Arabian Gulf enabled it to play an active trading role in linking the maritime lines and facilitating transport of goods between the East and the West.

b. Its business and trading policies encourage national and foreign capitals to enter into successful investment ventures in different commercial, industrial and services fields; thus, transforming Dubai into an international financial and trade hub.

c. Dubai has in place well-integrated modern infrastructures and efficient support services to economic activities; thus, ensuring sustaining growth of the various economic sector and, ultimately, the continued improvement of the living conditions of the population.

The last three decades witnessed the rapid growth of Dubai's trade and industrial sectors, as the emirate took advantage of its strategic location overlooking the Arabian Gulf. Modern maritime ports and airports and other infrastructures providing world-class efficient services have strengthened Dubai's position as the region's trading center. As an economic diversification strategy, the Jebel Ali Free Zone and the other similar industrial zones that had been constructed. They had been attracting investments in light and heavy industries. These economic zones had proven to be attractive not for setting up of branches of large multinationals, but also for setting up of medium and small manufacturing companies. These had contributed significantly towards self-sufficiency in some commodities, and even to surplus for exports to foreign markets. In recent years, Dubai has pursued several new initiatives to support the pillar drivers of economy, which are trade, logistics, finance, and tourism.
